WINE DESTINATIONS

SF: SPRUCE is a striking new addition to the staid dining scene in San Francisco's Presidio Heights. Set in a remodeled 1930s auto garage, the restaurant is divided into three spaces: a small café with sandwiches and house-made charcuterie, a sleek bar with glowing shelves of spirits and a plush dining room. Wine director Andrew Green's hefty list catalogues the world's vinous treasures, including an outstanding collection of German riesling—ideal for a plate of charcuterie. —WOLFGANG M. WEBER
